Look beyond AI productivity gains, forwarders told · 10/10 High

The Loadstar · 13 Oct 2026 07:56 MST

Freight forwarders should focus on using artificial intelligence to capture lost gross profit and deliver more tailored customer service, rather than treating the technology primarily as a productivity tool, according to Erik Muttersbach, founder of AI software company Zauber. Speaking on The Loadstar Podcast, Mr Muttersbach said AI could transform freight forwarding into a higher-value, higher-margin business over the next three to five years, with a growing divide between companies that ... ### Strong US import demand will support transpacific rates till new year · 8/10 High

The Loadstar · 13 Oct 2026 04:13 MST

Transpacific container freight rates are likely to remain higher than on Asia-Europe for some time, as stronger economic conditions in the US support import demand and weaker European growth weighs on cargo volumes and freight rates. Evergreen general manager Wu Kuang Hui said the rate divergence had become increasingly pronounced: “strong on US routes, weak on Europe routes”. And he said on Friday he expected the stronger US market to continue supporting ... The post Strong US import demand wil
